A Message from Father Rick

First, there was bad news. John the Baptist was arrested and imprisoned. The good news was Jesus still had time to fulfill his mission of saving all of humanity from darkness and sin. But how would he be able to accomplish such a humanly impossible task? Would three years be enough? Jesus was just beginning his ministry. The first official act he did was to call disciples who would be willing to leave everything behind for the sake of the Kingdom. There were twelve of them whom he called apostles which literally meant "one sent on a mission." Twelve was symbolic. They would represent the twelve tribes of Israel. The apostles, as the Gospel tells us, were personally called by their names. Some of their names like Simon would be changed into Peter, signifying the new life and the new role he had to live. Most of them were simple and ordinary fishermen. They were chosen by the Lord not because they were competent or qualified. In fact later on we would see that all of them, except John, would fail the test. They would run away and abandon Jesus. Peter would deny his master three times. The Lord had chosen them for what they would become. History would prove that by the power of the Holy Spirit and the grace of God these ordinary men would become the foundation of the Church.

Today the Lord continues to call each one of us, regardless of who we are so that we too can be sent and do his mission of proclaiming the goodness and the Love of God.

*Coming Home to the Catholic Church

We are grateful to be Catholic, and we're glad you are too. There is so much to love about Jesus and His Catholic Church, and it is infinitely important that we share this good news with others! Since its founding, Catholics Come Home has helped more than 500,000 people return home to the Church through the working of the Holy Spirit and with the cooperation of supportive Catholics who desire to invite others home. Jesus shows us a glimpse of the reward for our faithfulness to Him and to spreading the Gospel when He says in Scripture, "Come, O blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world..." God calls us to tend to the physical needs of our brothers and sisters, but also to their spiritual needs. People are hungry and thirsty for the truth...if we don't bring it to them, who will?

Mary's Corner

"To give worthy praise to the Lord's mercy, we unite ourselves with Your Immaculate Mother, for then our hymn will be more pleasing to You, because She is chosen from among men and angels. Through Her, as through a pure crystal, Your mercy was passed on to us. Through Her, man became pleasing to God; Through Her, streams of grace flowed down upon us." "
