A Message from Father Rick

This weekend October 19-20, the Church celebrates World Mission Sunday. This is done every year to support missionary works throughout the world. This weekend we do our share of praying for all the missionaries and also to contribute monetary help for the missions. Helping the work of the missions is one way we can give back to God what belongs to God. God commanded his disciples to go throughout the world and proclaim the good news. The same commandment is given to each one of us, and though we may not be able to go far in our evangelization we help those who have been called to go to foreign and dangerous lands to spread the Christian faith.

Thank you for your enthusiasm and generous support for the missions. In particular this Sunday we are asked to contribute to the Propagation of Faith and to the Pontifical Mission Societies. These two entities of the church are responsible for the spread of Christian faith and bring new members to the Church. Lastly, let us continue to pray for more vocations to priesthood and religious life and for lay missions.
